

you and me

it seems so tried and true that i am me and you are you, and there's no one to see more than just two. and both know who is who, and how we are, as you and me. but what if the two of us were a looking glass, and you and i could also see you in me and me in you? would each of us then dare to see what our eyes can meet, that through you and me we appear also as us, as you and me?
